

The departure of Mrs. Eugene Palge and daughters, Friday, for their future home in Connecticut, occasioned genuine sorrow to hosts of the family friends here.

The sale of their beautiful Tenth street home, sometime ago, was, to many people, the first hint that the family would no longer have its residence here. Of course they will return to visit frequently and may not really be away more than when they resided here, but still it won't be quite the same.

Carlton Pillsbury did not go East with the family, but is remaining here to live.
